BSc (Hons) Aviation Management with Commercial Pilot Training

Let your career take off

Designed to incorporate the study of aviation management with commercial pilot training, our course aims to make you stand out from the crowd.

As the need for commercial airline pilots increases this degree will equip you with both the practical and theoretical skills so sought after by the global airline community.

This degree was designed with the input from a range of industry professionals and takes account of the dynamic changes the industry faces. After completion of your studies you will hold an honours degree and also a 'frozen' Airline Transport Pilot Licence (fATPL).
